I. L. CLARK DIES; FUNERAL FRIDAY

One of the Most Prominent Business Men of Ogden Expires After Long Illness—Surrounded by All Members of His Family—Was Active in Affairs of City—Held Important Positions in the Mormon Church—Death Due to Diabetes

After a prolonged illness of diabetes, Isaac Lemuel Clark, a pioneer business man and a public spirited citizen, died at 8:30 o'clock last night at his residence, 2375 Madison avenue. He would have been 60 years old on September 10.

For the past few years, Mr. Clark has been ill and he and members of his family have made trips to the Pacific coast in the hope that a change of climate would improve his condition. He returned from his last visit to San Diego early in the spring and at that time believed himself to be to raise the organization to its present influential position.

His political activities were confined to one term as councilman from the Fourth ward during the administration of Mayor Brough.

During his long residence in Ogden, Mr. Clark was a faithful and active church worker. He was a member of the high council of Ogden Stake. He was also a director of the State School for the Deaf and the Blind.

Those who survive Mr. Clark are a widow, three sons and two daughters.

in better health than in several months. Although he attended to his many business affairs for several weeks, he was obliged to remain home a month ago. He failed steadily until the end came last night. All the members of his family were at his bedside.

The parents of I. L. Clark were pioneers, coming over the plains in wagons to Salt Lake. Soon after arriving, the father and mother moved to Ogden and Mr. Clark was born in Ogden, September 10, 1853. His father, Isaac Clark, was the first Latter-day Saint bishop in Ogden and was at one time probate judge of this section.

Mr. Clark received his early education in the pioneer schools of Ogden. His father had died when he was six months old, so early in life he knew what it was to be in responsible positions.

He began a general merchandise business on a small scale on Washington avenue on the site of the present I. L. Clark & Son stores, in 1881. At first everything was handled from produce and groceries to dry goods, but some of the departments have been dropped with the growth of the store. At the time of his death, Mr. Clark was president and treasurer of the I. L. Clark & Son Co.

Having been born in Ogden, I. L. Clark was a pioneer booster and he worked for the welfare of Ogden during his many years of residence. He served one term as president of the Weber club and was one of the men ters. The daughters are Mrs. J. B. Foulger and Miss Vera B. Clark. The sons are I. G. Clark, vice president and manager of the company, Charles Clark, and Darrel Clark. His half brothers are Parley Moore of Salt Lake, H. D. and L. J. Moore and a half sister, Mrs. Clara Frank, all of Ogden.

The funeral services will be held in the Sixth ward chapel at 2 p. m. Friday, with Bishop O. M. Sanderson officiating.

The pall bearers will be business associates of Mr. Clark.

The presidency of Ogden Stake, the high counselors, the stake workers, the bishops and their counselors and clerks, will assemble at the home at 1:30 on the day of the funeral to attend in a body. They will lead the funeral cortege from the home to the chapel and from the chapel to the cemetery.

The body will lie in state at the home Thursday afternoon and evening and Friday up to 12 o'clock.

Personal Tributes.

Patriarch G. W. Larkin, who has known I. L. Clark for 40 years, says: "A better husband and a better father never lived than I. L. Clark. He possessed great perseverance. When he set out to accomplish anything, he never ceased until he attained his aim. In business and in church work he was highly successful. His duties were fulfilled regularly. During the time he held a political office as councilman, he served the people of his ward in an efficient and upright manner."

which various impromptu games were played at the conclusion of which Mrs. McKellips was presented with a beautiful cut glass set as a token of the esteem in which she and her husband are held by those present.

Those present were: Mr. and Mrs. E. G. Cherrstrom, Mr. and Mrs. Edgar Staples, Mr. and Mrs. D. K. Stuart, Mr. and Mrs. Curtis Allison, Mr. and Mrs. Coal Allison, Mrs. Mary Neesley, Mr. and Mrs. J. J. Keane, Mrs. James Tomasek, Mrs. Mary Hastings, Mrs. A. W. Lane of Boise, Idaho, Mrs. J. I. Parel of Chicago, Mrs. Eliza R. McKellips, Mrs. Bruce Noble, Mrs. Emma Hinley, Mrs. R. S. Peterson, and the Misses Verna Stuart and Vera Wright.

Mrs. A. C. McCain and children have returned from a vacation trip spent in the Bear Lake country.

Misses Lilla and May Underwood of Downey, Idaho, have been the guests of Miss Yulita Wheelwright.

Miss Carrier Nolan of Salt Lake has been the guest of Mrs. G. Hart at 141 James court for a week.

Mrs. Ambrose P. Hills returned Sunday morning from a two months' visit with her mother, Mrs. Benjamin W. McCoy in Seattle, Wash.

Miss Catharine McLaughlin, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Henry McLaughlin, leaves today for California, where she will spend the next three months with relatives and friends. Los Angeles, Santa Monica, and San Francisco will be visited before her return.

Mrs. Elizabeth Child spent last week in Salt Lake with her daughter, Mrs. David Barker, at the Alexandria apartments.

SHERIFF IS TO COME AFTER J. B. KING

Sheriff R. G. Lyon of Rio Blanco county, Colo., has telegraphed Sheriff DeVine from Meeker that the governor of Colorado has signed requisition papers for J. B. King, alias Markham, alias Jordan, and that he will be here to get the prisoner as soon as possible.

It will be recalled that Markham has been in the county jail since a week ago when he made three trips to Salt Lake at the expense of the owner of an automobile, bought 250 shares of stock in an uranium mine in Colorado and paid for the stock with a bad check and also traded a worthless draft on a Denver bank to a Salt Lake man for a good, negotiable check of $150.

MRS. RANDALL IS SEEKING DIVORCE

In the district court this morning, Zina L. Randall commenced divorce proceedings against Oscar P. Randall, charging cruelty.

The plaintiff alleges that she married the defendant at El Cajon, Cal., June 6, 1904, and that they now have one child, the care and custody of which she petitions for.

The plaintiff alleges that for some time past the defendant has remained at home only from 5 a. m. to the noon hour of each day and that he has refused to entertain the family.

She says that he is "grouchy and morose" and that he has accused her of interfering with his business interests.

Aside from asking for the care of the minor child and divorce, the plaintiff seeks general relief.

MONEY IS NOT TURNED OVER TO CITY

City Auditor W. D. Van Dyke, Jr., this morning communicated to the city board of commissioners that the ordinance requiring all collections made by officers of city departments be turned over to the city treasurer each day is not being complied with. He stated that the engineering department is holding out $400 in "deposit money and all other moneys held for guarantee purposes" deposited with the head of the department more than a year ago. The matter was referred to the superintendent of public affairs and finance for investigation.

Under the terms of the ordinances, passed August 5, says the auditor, all moneys on collection or deposit as guarantees must be turned over to the city treasurer each day.

Commissioner Nye advised the commissioners that the Utah Power & Light company is prepared to furnish certain free lights to the city, beginning September 1, and to this end he recommended that the city auditor be instructed to notify the Utah Light & Railway company to remove its wires and other equipment for lighting the Carnegie Free Library and the Police station on the morning of September 1, so that the other company may install its lighting equipment. The recommendation was approved.

Bids for the building of sidewalk district No. 121 were referred to the consideration of the committee of the whole.

The claim of the George A. Lowe company for $2020 was allowed, and the auditor instructed to issue a warrant for the amount.

The petition of W. C. Tusker for permission to tap the watermain at the intersection of Monroe avenue and Thirtieth street was referred to the superintendent of waterworks.

DAUGHTERS OF PIONEERS.

While the rain kept a number of people from attending the grand ball given in the Glenwood pavilion by the Daughters of the Pioneers, last evening, the freshened atmosphere was greatly appreciated by the fair-sized crowd of dance lovers present.

The arrangements made by the different committees, for the entertainment of their guests, were nicely carried out and were appreciated.

The refreshment booths—one in each corner of the south end of the hall—were prettily decorated with the lodge colors, orange, white and green, with vases of cut flowers giving added beauty. In one booth, ice cream cones were served and in the other was a plentiful supply of fruit punch.

Music for the dancing was played from 8:30 to 11:30 p. m. by an eight-piece orchestra under the direction of E. W. Nichols.

A PLEASANT SURPRISE.

Mr. and Mrs. A. R. McKellips of 2217 Monroe avenue, were agreeably surprised on Monday evening last in the shape of a house warming, when several of their personal friends appeared about 8:30 p. m., and took possession of their new home and proceeded to make Mr. and Mrs. McKellips the guests of the evening. And to say that they were introduced to their own new home in a suitable and pleasant manner is putting it mildly.

It made no difference to this jolly crowd of friends that they had invaded a home not entirely complete for the reception of guests, they proceeded to set a delicious spread of all the delicacies of the season after
